

I urge the FCC to not give into corporate interests and represent and regulate them for us, the consumers, by upholding net neutrality rules to protect us all. Ajit Pai's comments of "the market will decide" are false; There is almost no competition here. We need net neutrality to protect free speech and the open internet. This will also protect online commerce.